BAHAWALPUR STATE—Punjab

A Native State in direct political relationship with the Government of India, through the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General, Punjab States. Bahawalpur is situated between the Punjab and Rajputana, Lat 27° 41' to 30° 22' 15", Long 70° 47' to 74° 1', and bounded on the north-east by the district of Ferozepore; on the east and south by the Rajputana States of Bikaner and Jaisalmer; on the south-west by Sind, and on the north-west by the Indus and Sutlej rivers. Area, 15,000 square miles

The State is about 300 miles in length and about 50 miles wide. The ruling family is descended from the Abbasside Khalifas of Baghdad. The tribe originally came from Sind, and assumed independence during the dismemberment of the Durrani Empire in the Treaty of Lahore in 1809. Ranjit Singh was confined to the right bank of the Sutlej.

The first treaty with Bahawalpur was negotiated in 1833, the year after the treaty with Ranjit Singh for regulating traffic on the Indus. It served the independence of the Nawab within his own territories and opened up the traffic on the Indus and Sutlej. During the first Afghan War the Nawab rendered assistance to the British and was rewarded by a grant of territory and life pension. On his death the succession was disputed and for a time the administration of the State was in the hands of the British authorities. The present Nawab was born in 1904 and succeeded in 1907. During his minority the State was managed by a Council of Regency which ceased to exist in March 1924, when His Highness the Nawab was invested with full powers. His Highness is now assisted in the administration of his State by a Council of Ministers

The chief crops are wheat, rice and millet. The Lahore-Karachi branch of the North-Western Railway passes through the State. The State supports an Imperial Service combined Infantry, in addition to other troops. The capital is Bahawalpur, a walled town built in 1748

Income from all sources about one Crore Rupees. Languages spoken.—Multani or Western Punjabi, Sindhi and Marwari

KHETRI

The Khetri Thikonaisan Estate of the Jaipur State is held on a double tenure as the Raja holds one part of his territory—the Pargana of Kotputli—as a free gift in perpetuity from the British Government while the other was wrested by sword from the Kaimkhanis (Mussalmans) and other Rajputs, and submitted to the protection of Jaipur Darbar for which a tribute is annually paid. It stretches from 75° 12' to 76° 20' East Long; and from 27° 35' to 28° 28' North Lat. This is due to the villages being scattered. It is bounded on the north by Bikaner and Loharu, on the west by Bikaner and part of Shekhawati district of Jaipur, on the south by Torawati district of Jaipur and on the east by Alwar and the Narnaul district of Patiala. Area about 800 square miles excluding that of Panchpana villages in which Khetri has shares varying from 2 annas 6 pies to 13 annas 4 pies. Population, 128,377. Important towns:—Khetri, Kotputli, Singhana, Chirawa, Ajitgarh, Babai, Jasrapur and Bagar. Average rainfall varies from 15 to 21 inches in the different parts. Languages spoken:—Hindi and Marwari. Thikana is a word locally used for estate

Head-quarters:—Khetri. Situated in 28° North, and 75° 47' East. Population, 6,093. The town is picturesquely situated in the midst of hills and is commanded by a fort of some strength on the summit of a hill 2,337 feet above sea-level. There are in the immediate neighbourhood valuable copper mines which have not been worked for many years. There is a combined post and telegraph office. The nearest railway stations are Manoda and Nisampur on the Rewari-Phulwara Chord of B B and C I Railway and are both connected by metalled roads 17 miles in length. Passengers by motor services, camels and bullock-carts. Goods by camels and bullock-carts. At Khetri there are guest houses for Europeans and Indians

MAYURBHANJ STATE

Mayurbhanj ranks first in point of population and revenue among the States of the Eastern States Agency, numbering forty, twenty-six of which were till April 1933 known as the Orissa States, and fourteen as the Central Provinces States. It is also the only full-powered State in the Agency. The history of its ruling family goes back into hoary antiquity, and numerous archaeological finds testify to its powerful sway, and to the vast domains that constituted its territory for hundreds of years. Bhanja Kings ruled over their extensive territory from Khijinga—Kotta, modern Khiching, whose ancient remains bear eloquent testimony to the eminence and culture of the then rulers which found expression in diverse forms of art of a very high order styled Mayurbhanj School of Art by Rene Grousset and art critics of acknowledged authority. Its geographical and strategic position constituted it an important buffer state at a time when the Hon'ble East India Company and the Mahrattas were engaged in a struggle for supremacy in Eastern India, and when in 1803, the Mahratta power was routed by the British in Orissa, Maharani Sumitra Devi, who was the ruler of Mayurbhanj at the time, rendered valuable aid to the Hon'ble Company's arms. A treaty was concluded with her grandson in 1829 by the British authorities. During the Mutiny of 1857, the ruler of Mayurbhanj again distinguished himself as a loyal ally of the East India Company. A succession of wise rulers has helped Mayurbhanj to win the reputation of a model state; and the present ruler's father, Maharaja Sriram Chandra, administered the state on British lines in a manner which earned universal commendation. Judicial independence, which has been secured under a full-powered High Court, is a special feature of its administration.

The State is rich in mineral and forest resources, and supplies the bulk of raw materials needed for the Tata Iron and Steel Works of Jamshedpur. The present administration is making every effort to promote the industrial interests of the State, by affording technical instructions on various lines and financial aid to home industries. Co-operative credit and agricultural organisations are making steady headway, while general education is spreading through well-regulated schools and a liberal system of scholarships. A net-work of good roads is proving a powerful aid to business enterprise, besides facilitating communication.

The Capital of the State is Baripada, which is a progressive municipal town providing modern amenities. Baripada and the southern parts of the State are served by the Mayurbhanj Railway which takes off at Rupsa, a junction station on the Calcutta-Madras line of the B N Ry. The northern portion of the State is, likewise, served by a broad gauge section of the B N Ry which connects with Tatanagar on the Calcutta-Bombay line.

The present Maharaja, who succeeded his brother in 1928, received his education in the Rajkumar College, Ajmer, and Muir Central College, Allahabad. He is an enlightened prince with democratic ideas, and takes a keen personal interest in all branches of the administration. He has married into the Shisodia Family of Shalipura Rulers in Rajputana. The Maharaja enjoys a hereditary salute of 9 guns, and is the only permanent member of the Chamber of Princes from the Eastern States. He is also the President of the Council of Rulers of the Eastern States Agency.

There are Dak Bungalows at Baripada and at all Sub-divisional Head-quarters.

The telephone system accounts for a total length of 215 miles, connecting all important centres with the Capital.

Languages spoken:—Marathi and Konkani

The State pays no tribute to the Government. It is rich in forests of teak, especially near the Sahyadri hills, blackwood, ain, Kher and Jambha. Near the sea the more important trees are the jackwood, mango and bhirand. Cocoanuts and cashew-nuts are very plentiful. The staple agricultural produce of the State is rice; but the quantity being insufficient for the wants of the people, a good deal is imported from outside. Iron ore of fair quality is found in the neighbourhood of the Ramghat in the Sahyadri Range. The Akeri stone, a slate coloured talc-schist, extremely hard, compact and heavy is unrivalled for building purposes. The principal industries of the State consist of gold and silver embroidery work on both leather and cloth, fans, etc; lacquered toys and playing-cards and elegant drawing-room ornaments carved from the horn of the buffalo and bison

It is, however, rich in forest and mineral resources. Some of the collieries, for which the State is noted, are worked by B N and M & S M rys as sub-lessees under Talcher Coal Field, Ltd. Iron, mica, manganese, hard marble and building stones are also available

The State of Talcher was established at the end of the 12th century by Raja Narahari Singh Deo, a scion of the Raja Thakur family of Jaipur. The Rajas of this State never submitted to the sovereignty of Puri or the Marathas and they all along maintained their independence. The British Government recognised their independence and entered into treaty relations with the State in 1803

The administration of the State is conducted under the personal supervision of the Raja Sahib, who is a very popular ruler and takes a keen interest in improving and conducting it on modern lines

The State maintains an independent judiciary. There is a Municipality at the head-quarters, which is controlled by a committee of officials and non-officials. Roads are lighted by electricity. Education is compulsory. There are 75 primary schools, one H E school and one Sanskrit Vidyalaya and one Muktab. There are six dispensaries, including one Ayurvedic dispensary

VITOPATHIC SYSTEM OF TREATMENT

INTRODUCED BY Dr. D. N. DUTT.

Dr. Kshirode Chandra Gupta, M.A.,
B.L., Principal, Vidyasagar College,
Calcutta, writes to Dr. D. N. Dutt,
Proprietor, Siddhayoga Research Laboratory,
130-C, Cornwallis Street,
Shambazar, Calcutta :

"Your medicines like those of Homoeopathic medicines are pure and effective, and on the other hand the procedure to use them is very simple. Again Homoeopathic medicines are foreign while those of yours are 'Swadeshi'. I firmly believe that Homoeopathic medicine chest now found in every house will be replaced by yours if the qualities of these medicines are once known to the country. In the medical world 'Compt. Matte' is the pride of Italy and Suslar of Germany and you are the pride of Bengal."

The aerodrome officer in charge of a controlling aerodrome renders all possible assistance to aircraft flying within the section for which he is responsible. He passes information as to their movements further along the route in order that wireless stations and lighting may be available at the appropriate times and he issues any special warnings or information which may be necessary for the safe and efficient operation of the route. For example, in the event of a D F station, airway beacon, or landing ground becoming unserviceable, the controlling aerodrome is responsible that a warning is issued by wireless to aircraft flying within the section and to the controlling aerodrome or aerodromes immediately adjacent.

In the latter case the D H Ry can be used to Ghoom one march thence via Peshoke to Teesta Bridge where the same road to Gangtok is met; (2) the other route is via the Jelapa (Pass). After leaving Teesta Bridge, 2 miles further on the Giellekhol branches off, by following this, through Kalimpong the Jelapa is reached. This offers the same alternative as the first route with regard to reaching Teesta Bridge. It is impossible to say which transport can be used; carts can frequently be got upto Gangtok to reach Yarcola; the road is continually being swept by the Teesta or breached by rain, when only mules or coolies can go. This road during the rains is subject to slips, but animal transport can usually proceed; in winter there are frequent slips and the track may become obliterated by snow; animal transport often cannot proceed, but anyone determined to do so could do so with coolies; there is, however, a risk of avalanches. The dak is not, as a rule, stopped for many days at a time, but there are a certain number of casualties amongst the Thibetan runners from avalanches and frost-bite.
